RANGE PROVERBS.

Whoso overstocketh the range, the same shall come to want and prowl for a job, for so it is that the trampling of many hoofs destroys the range and renders it unsafe for Winter.

The wicked cowboy rideth his cayuse unnecessarily, but the faithful one regardeth his beast, and rideth only when it is meet he should do so, and it is well with him.

The foolish man sayeth in his heart, "My neighbors bulls are good enough for me," and he provideth himself with no masculine bovines and when he dieth Satan delights to roast him.

The silly man shippeth lank beavers to the East and West, and suffereth in his purse, but the wise man waiteth for the tallow to form on the ribs of his beasts and it is with him.

The silly cowboy bloweth in his seeds against stud horse poker and remains poor, but the wise man saveth up his shekels and partaketh of the fat of the land.

The wise man breedeth from good horses and his animals paw the ground and smell the battle afar. The silly man sticketh to the scrub cayuse and poverty overtaketh him even as a wolf.

The wicked man pulleth his neighbors' dogies and wrath cometh upon him, but it is well with him who walketh upright and stealeth not.

The wicked man regardeth the maverick with covetous eyes, but the upright man turneth him over to the owners thereof.

The silly cowboy wasteth his substance in riotous living and goes hungry in Winter, and none do pity him, but the prudent one layeth up for a rainy day. Selah.—Silver State.

The Wizard Oil Company.

The Wizard Oil opera company gave its first performance yesterday in front of the Ormsby House in an open carriage. It gave a better concert than most of the travelling troupes. The basso is the finest that ever sang here, and the tenor is remarkable. Burt, the comedian of the show, and manager, is a four horse team all by himself. He said they would stay a week, had taken out a county license and would sell oil and give concerts just outside the city limits at the North end of town. He thought that the City fathers had built a barbed wire fence around the town by charging a $10 daily license. There was a big crowd at the concert last night, and they all bought Wizard Oil.

THE ELKO CONVENTION.

HECK MASON WITHDRAWS FROM THE FIGHT.

Taffy from Senator Fair in the Party Platform.

Special to the APPEAL.

ELKO, Sept. 10.—The Convention got down to business today and adopted a platform. There were two strong planks on the labor and anti-Chinese questions.

Cleveland's administration is heartily endorsed, but he is given a sharp rap over the knuckles for his stand on the silver question.

One plank favors the opening of the Carson Mint and another gives Fair a strong bid to come into the fight by ranking him as among the greatest statesmen of the age.

Today Heck Mason announced his withdrawal from the fight which has created great hilarity among the Adams men. This leaves Adams without a contestant for the nomination. There is considerable scurrying among some of the Democrats over Adams' nomination, as they claim it is contrary to all democratic precedent to allow a man to have four terms of office.

SECOND DISPATCH.

The ticket nominated is as follows: Adams, Governor; Bell, Lieut. Governor; McMillan, Congress, Belknap, Supreme Judge; Schooling, Treasurer; Sadler, Controller; Buller, Attorney General; Duffy, State Printer; Brady, Secretary of State; Kaye, Superintendent of Public Instruction; Day, Surveyor General; McKernan, Clerk of Supreme Court.

Cassiday declined the nomination for Congress.

Queer Case of Poverty.

It seems that Nevada's State University is too poor to subscribe for all the papers published in the State, though Professors McCammon and Willis are anxious to give them space in the library reading room. The Reveille will be sent gratis until such time as the State can pay for it.—Austin Reveille.

The APPEAL fails to see why the Reveille should donate a paper to the University. But Nevada has always been a place where newspapers are expected to do a great deal of "donating." Would the University expect carpenters to donate their services; do the lumber companies donate boards to the institution; do the hardware men donate stores; or do the furniture men donate chairs and tables? Not much, they want good hard money for their goods.

This donating business is what makes the newspapers of Nevada the scrawniest and most ill conditioned looking sheets published in any Western State. The editors and publishers are expected to donate time, muscle, money and brains to the State at large; advertising its resources, shouting for the county to help build up a state of affairs for other people to make money out of. If there is a public celebration, a big purse is raised to put things through, the dry goods man charges 12 1/2 cents a yard for his colored goods to decorate with; the livery men charge top prices for horses and carriages, and all the tradespeople take a shy at the Committee's sack. The newspaper men sounds the timbrel, blows the horn, booms the affair and "donates" the printing and advertising. The Legislature had better make an appropriation next Winter to enable the State University to subscribe for a few State papers.

Vote at the Primaries.

Every Republican should vote at the primaries to day and administer a fitting rebuke to the disturbers of party harmony who claim that they can keep Republican voters at home.

There may be no contest, but for all that every voter should be at the polls and show the cranks that the party is not sleeping in the Banner Republican County in the State.

—A. B. C. Cranston, floor-walker for Stern Brothers, 32 West Twenty-third street, New York, together with his wife, was troubled with malaria for upwards of two years. They both were entirely cured by taking one or two Brandreth's Pills every night for three months, without interfering with their labor or household duties.

MINER'S SAVINGS.

Some Good Prospects From the Comstock.

Those who deal in monetary matters say that the banks at the present time have more Miner's savings on deposit than ever before in the history of the Comstock. The era of speculation has passed away from the Comstock and it is much better that for all concerned. The money that used to go into the swirl of stock speculation to disappear for ever now goes into the bank to be laid aside for a rainy day. The rush and riot of the early days, and the high pressure times of the Bonanza epoch is all over now and the miners have settled down to the earnest business of working and saving. Many of them are getting old with large families on their hands and they see the folly of squandering their savings in speculation, faro and whiskey, and a good many young men who have noted the wrecks along the shore have vowed to steer clear of the reefs where their comrades went to pieces.

Thus it is that the money now being paid out by the mining companies goes into more steady channels of commerce and more permanently benefits the community. Again, all sorts of inventions are coming to the front to cheapen the reduction of ore. The talk about reducing miner's wages in order to cheapen the cost of utilizing low grade ore seems to be subsiding, and now the proposition is to give the miners the regular rates and cheapen the cost of production by improved processes for concentration, and erecting mills at Sutro, to be run by water power.

Good miners claim that the body of low grade ore in the old bonanza mines runs from the 300 to the 1,000 level and will go from $20 to $60 per ton. There is enough of this ore to keep the mills going for fifty years at the present rate of extracting, which is ample for all practical purposes.

A Singular Issue.

Washoe has always been famous for the unselfish unanimity with which her citizens pull together when there is any chance to better her or forward any of her people. There seems to be some exception to this spirit this Fall which is showing itself in the marked opposition to some of the candidates before the State Convention. The name of Judge Boardman has been suggested for one of the three Judgeships, but there is an effort being made to send delegates from Washoe who will deny him the privilege of appearing before the Convention at all. Judge Boardman has cleared up the docket in Washoe county in good shape and has given no cause for being shut out by his own neighbors. His name should go before the Convention and let the Republicans of the State have the opportunity to choose between him and others.—Gazette.

Squire and Flynn's Last Move.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The latest move on the part of counsel for Squire and Flynn, to delay their trial on the charge of conspiracy, is an effort to have the indictment squashed on the ground that the jury which presented the indictment was illegally drawn. They claim when the Board, composed of Presiding Justices of the Supreme and Superior Courts of Common Pleas and the City Court Recorder and Mayor of this city, whose duty it is to select a list of Grand Jurors, met in September last, they violated many provisions of the law. The District Attorney makes light of this last effort of the two desperate men to delay their trial.

They Deserted Him.

Mr. Emmons, the vegetable man, who went into business expecting the Anti-Chinese League would help him fight the Chinese, has been compelled to suspend. He says only two or three members of the League traded with him. Mr. Emmons ought to have known what everybody else seems to; that the League has been for some months past, a political organization, and has no time to bother with vegetables.
